

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An engine speed sound-warning device includes a central processor that receives a detection signal of engine
5 revolution, and compares the received signal with an engine speed value preset via a setting selection unit. When the detected signal of engine speed exceeds the preset engine speed value, a sound is emitted under control to notify and warn the driver.